CHEVRON ENERGY AND HYDROGEN RENEWAL PROJECT

Dear Neighbor,

Chevron is proposing to upgrade and replace equipment at the Richmond Refinery. The Energy and Hydrogen Renewal Project is part of our on-going commitment to reliable and efficient operations.

The project does not cost local government or local taxpayers any money. Chevron is responsible for the entire cost. In addition, the improvements are expected to create direct benefits to the City of Richmond and the surrounding community including:

- Reducing overall emissions, making Richmond's air quality even better
- Replacing existing equipment with new equipment that is more energy efficient and includes enhanced environmental controls
- Generating millions in new tax revenues for Richmond that could be used to fund essential public services including public safety, street repairs, libraries and youth services
- Creating more than 1,200 good-paying construction jobs—most are expected to be filled by union labor
- Enabling the Refinery to become entirely energy self-sufficient and providing excess electricity for public use
- Producing additional fuel that meets California's strict environmental standards
- Improving operations without any change to the Refinery's overall production capacity

Chevron is working with the City of Richmond, Bay Area Air Quality Management District and the California Energy Commission to ensure the project meets or exceeds all state, regional and local regulatory requirements.

Please take a few moments to fill out and return the enclosed reply mail card. Your feedback is important to us. For more information, please visit www.RichmondRefinery.com
